Barricades can't stop farmers

Water cannons no match for their resolve to reach Delhi & register protest

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THERE was plenty of action on the Punjab-Haryana interstate border on Thursday with Punjab farmers beginning their two-day Delhi Chalo agitation, as they broke through barricades on the Haryana side and pushed ahead despite the police using water cannons and tear gas to stop their onward march.

The face-off at all entry points along the interstate border was anticipated, as Haryana has a BJP-led coalition government, and the Delhi Chalo agitation is against a bunch of farm laws the Modi government at the Centre steamrolled in Parliament.

To start with, farmers broke the barricading at the Shambhu interstate border near Ambala on the Amritsar-Delhi National Highway after the police fired tear gas shells and used water cannons to disperse them, but to no effect. P12

Heavy deployment of forces on Delhi border

Haryana's police and paramilitary forces have also been heavily deployed at the Singhu border with Delhi. Deployment of forces is equally heavy at the interstate border cities of Faridabad and Gurugram

Treat farmers with dignity: Gowda to Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WITH the police using water cannons and tear gas on farmers protesting against the farm Bills near the Delhi-Haryana border, former Prime Minister H D Deve Gowda said the use of force cannot solve the problem and that the Centre should engage with the farmers.

The farmers are demanding repeal of the new farm laws which deregulate the sale of farm produce and claim it will lead to dismantling of the (MSP) system. CONTINUED ON: P4

Calm after storm as Sun shines over Puducherry

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai/Puducherry

IT was a narrow miss for Puducherry and parts of Tamil Nadu, as Cyclone Nivar crossed the shores on Thursday morning after having caused minimal damage to life and property. The rains stopped around 6 am and a few hours later, there was bright sunshine over the region, bringing people out on roads. While Puducherry government has sought an interim relief package of ₹50 crore from the Centre to deal with the damages, Tamil Nadu has not made any demands so far. As per its preliminary assessments, the UT claimed they suffered losses worth ₹400 crore.

Heavy rainfall triggered by the cyclone submerged 9,400 hectares of crops in northern districts of Tamil Nadu. Officials swiftly began work to save the crops. P9

K'taka under wet blanket for two more days

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WITH Cyclone Nivar turning into a depression, the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) on Thursday forecast rainfall across Karnataka for the next two days while warning that this winter will be intense and prolonged. There will also be a further dip in temperatures.

The IMD has asked citizens to be cautious and careful of the changing temperatures and rainfall and the ailments associated with it even as the Covid-19 pandemic rages on. P9

MANUAL SCAVENGING STILL PRACTICED IN, AROUND CITY

IT Capital's shame gets BBMP chief's goat, Palike Commissioner Prasad orders survey, report on workers; warns of action against citizens who hire them

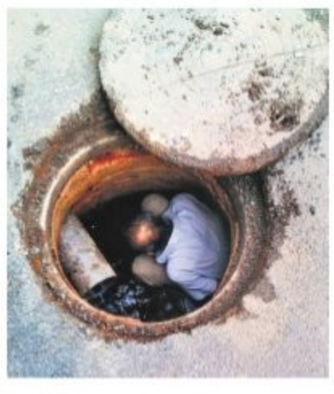
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CALL Bengaluru 'Boom Town', 'IT Capital of India' or even 'Global City', but the city's shame lies in the fact that manual scavenging still persists in and around the metropolis, despite strict directions from the courts and Central government.

The shame was exposed at a meeting on Thursday, when Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad was apprised by BBMP zonal officers on the status of the disgusting practice of manual scavenging. The practice involves manually cleaning or disposing of human excreta from latrines or open drains, using buckets and shovels, or worse, bare hands.

What has emerged even more shameful are the figures pertaining to the practice: Prasad was apprised that as per a 2013 survey conducted by the Central and state governments, 201 manual scavengers were identified, and compensation of ₹40,000 each was given to only 71 of them. In the case of the remaining workers, documents were still to be verified, and the status of the rest is not yet known.

A recent survey indicated that in all eight city zones, excluding Yelahanka, Bommanahalli and Dasarahalli, there were 1,139 manual scavengers. But the final details are not yet known, Prasad was informed.



A livid Prasad then ordered a proper survey and a report on the total number of manual scavengers in the city. He also pointed out that there were many manual scavengers in the newly-added 110 villages of Bengaluru, where this practice is prevalent, and reminded officials that as per the court and Central government guidelines and orders, stringent action will be taken against those forcing them into such a practice by hiring them.

Prasad has ordered for the report to include pertinent details about the conditions in which manual scavengers live and work in.

> A fresh survey should be done and all the 1,139 and 201 (from the earlier survey) workers should be checked, their financial conditions ascertained, homes should be constructed for them, their children should be given proper education, and alternative sources of livelihood should be offered to them -N Manjunatha Prasad, BBMP chief

An agitated Prasad said: "A fresh survey should be done and all the 1,139 and 201 (from the earlier survey) workers should be checked, their living and financial conditions ascertained, homes should be constructed for them, their children should be given proper education, and alternative sources of livelihood should be offered to them."

Elephant used for wedding at ashram, activists cry foul

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

CAPTIVE elephants continue to be used for various purposes like carrying logs, in temples, for seeking alms and even on religious occasion. However, in a rare incident, an elephant was allegedly used for a wedding ceremony on the outskirts of Bengaluru.

The elephant is in the possession of the Art of Living Ashram on Kanakapura Road and was used for the function on its premises.

Forest department officials confirmed this and said that using an elephant for a wedding is shocking and unheard of.

The elephant at the wedding ceremony

An elephant expert pointed that around three months ago, the tusker, housed in the ashram, had killed its mahout and using it for a wedding is not acceptable. "There are many instances where elephants are misused. There is no rule to say that no one can sit on an elephant, but it's not in good taste and elephants do not like it when strangers touch or mount them. Licences are usually taken for religious purposes and if the elephant is used for any purpose other than what is defined in the ownership certificate, it amounts to violation," the expert said.

Chief Wildlife Warden Ajai Mishra said it was unheard of and assured to look into the matter. Deputy Conservator of Forests, Bengaluru Urban, Ravi Shankar, said he was unaware of the matter and added that they had not received any application for such purpose.

However, some other conservationists said the owner is entitled to use the elephant for any purpose he or she desires, unless it is inhuman or amounts to cruelty. "This was a private purpose, so there is no nuisance and nothing to worry," said another conservationist.

Despite repeated attempts, Art of Living authorities were unavailable for comment.

Will make changes to better BDA, says new chairman Vishwanath

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

YELAHANKA MLA S R Vishwanath, the new chairman of the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) is ready with his list of priorities and has expressed his keenness to transform the organisation. He, assumed charge on Thursday in the presence of outgoing Chairman and Additional Chief Secretary, Urban Development, Rakesh Singh and BDA Commissioner H R Mahadeva.

In a chat with TNIE, Vishwanath said Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa has given him a free hand and wants him to make BDA a better place. "I am keen on making changes here, for the better," he added.

He said the BDA needs to be made more people-friendly. "I want to appeal to people to approach me directly in case of any problems or at least send grievance letters. There is no need to go to brokers for it. There are some officials who seek financial gains by colluding with such outsiders. I have asked the BDA commissioner to ensure all agents are barred from the office," he said.

The city's Comprehensive Development Plan 2031 is pending for long. "I want to ensure it's ready within the next one year," the MLA said.

It is crucial to put the PRR project in place. "Farmers wanted a better compensation than what would be handed over as per law. We will give compensation to those who have given land below 2 acres. Those who handed over more than 2 acres will be given the Transfer of Development Rights. Many are ready to accept it, we'll convince the others also," he said.

Arkavathy and Kempe Gowda Layouts allottees faced issues like delay in development works and allotment of sites. "I will ensure all these problems are redressed," he added. He informed that it would take him a month to study the system and begin effecting the required changes.

PETER VIDAL

27th November: The planet Mars, or Mangala, is one my favourites. There's something about this celestial body that I really like. I think it must be because it is the planet of energy, and that this happens to be a fine moment for undertaking new enterprises, and generally kicking over the traces. It's all very exciting.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
It's a useful day to push for your professional ambitions. Also, consider all the legal ins and outs, and avoid bending the rules. And, above all, you should see to it that you know your rights and that nobody can get the better of you. That's only fair!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
It is time to capitalise on all property and other investments. It's also a highly auspicious moment for making your feelings abundantly clear at home, and for pursuing all overseas or foreign contacts. You might not succeed - at least not now. But you will prepare the ground for the future.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
This is a fine moment to consider the world, and your place in it, from a more business like perspective. There have been periods when you were inclined to be a little too rash with money, but right now you should attempt to balance the books. You'll thank yourself in the future.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The profile of personal relationships is being raised once again. You may discover that other people respond to your feelings in unexpected ways. You had probably even given up hope of eliciting any support at all. Perhaps you were asking the wrong people!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You appear to be wrestling with your conscience, but it is doubtful whether you could have acted in any other way than you did, especially at home. Some kind of a professional commitment has to be made, but there may be no money involved. An idealistic approach should work best.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You should make some strategic moves to secure family agreements. More important than practical repairs or changes is the need to introduce a dash of colour and a hint of luxury. Family gatherings look auspicious, just as long as you take it upon yourself to generate a good atmosphere.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You stand a much better chance of reaching agreement on matters of substance over the next year if you begin by giving other people the benefit of the doubt. Also, you may combine emotional openness with financial generosity: the greatest pleasure should come from giving, not from taking.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There is a great deal to play for at the moment, and if your choices are based solely on what is of practical benefit, you are bound to convert a potential loss into a decent profit. Romantic adventures might prove costly, so if you're going to subsidise someone, make sure that they're worth it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may turn your attention to financial matters today. Even minor transactions could have major consequences, a thought which should be sufficient to keep your attention on the facts. Consider the details, for you will ignore the small print at your peril.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You are well within your rights to dig your heels in, especially when you're dealing with all matters of a strictly intimate nature. Whether you will get away with it is another question, so you should act only when you judge that the time is right.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Others might get the wrong impression if you refuse to take them into your confidence. This is one of those times when you should be prepared to trust everybody, certain in the knowledge that they will respond as best as they can. Keep your options open at work, though.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Every planet in your chart is in either a public or creative angle, so you should expect to be on display. This will be thoroughly enjoyable if you use the chance to spread your opinions around and generally dominate all lively social gatherings.

CM may suggest backward caste tag for Veerashaiva-Lingayats

Cabinet meeting today, to take up Suburban Rail, new Vijayanagar dist, housing project

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

IN a move that could have far-reaching political consequences, Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa is expected to take up the Veerashaiva-Lingayat community's recommendation to the Centre to be included as a backward caste, at the cabinet meeting on Friday. The cabinet is expected to make this recommendation. The move comes days after announcement of the Veerashaiva-Lingayat Development Corporation, and allocation of Rs 500 crore to this body.

Surprisingly, the Chief Minister himself is scheduled to address the media after the cabinet meeting, a responsibility normally given to the law and parliamentary affairs minister.

In the backdrop of bypolls to Maski, the cabinet will take up approval for irrigation work and modernisation of canals at a cost of Rs 52.54 crore.

The cabinet will also take up approval of the newly-constituted Vijayanagar district, carved out of Ballari district in Kalyan Karnataka.

Bengaluru city is expected to expand, with Kanshiramnagar and Lakshmipuram Ward 12, which are a part of Bangalore North taluk, to be included in the city.

Taking a short break from the pressures of cabinet expansion, Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa spends some time at Male Mahadeshwara Swamy temple in Chamarajanagar district, on Thursday | EXPRESS

CM to meet all party MPs today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister BS Yediyurappa, who returned to Bengaluru on Thursday evening after a three-day visit to Mysuru and Chamarajanagar districts, has called a meeting of party MPs on Friday. The meeting, at the CM's home office 'Krishna', will be held a few hours after the cabinet meeting.

"The CM has called for an MPs' meeting at 4pm. It's an informal meeting and the subject for discussion has not been specified," Kalaburgi BJP MP Dr Umesh Jadhav told TNIE.

Two other MPs, too, maintained that it will be an informal meeting, and they were not aware of the agenda. "Normally, the CM calls meetings of MPs once a year, and this is the second such meeting after Yediyurappa took over as CM last year," said a BJP MP from South Karnataka region.

While Jadhav ruled out the possibility of current political developments in the state coming up for discussion during the meeting, sources said the CM called the meeting to take MPs into confidence. "One section of party leaders, including elected representatives, have expressed displeasure over not being taken into confidence in recent appointments to boards and corporations. "Leaders and workers who are loyal to the party should have been accommodated in the boards and corporations, instead of giving those posts to leaders who joined the party recently," said a BJP leader.

SOME SENIOR NETAS HEAD TO DELHI AS CABINET MEETS TODAY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A few senior ministers are unlikely to attend Friday's cabinet meeting, convened by Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa, as they will be heading to New Delhi to attend the inauguration of party national general secretary C T Ravi's office there on Friday afternoon.

Several ministers including Deputy Chief Minister Laxman Savadi, Revenue Minister R Ashoka, Water Resources Minister Ramesh Jarkiholi and RDPR Minister K S Eshwarappa among others are attending the Delhi event on an invitation from Ravi. While the office inauguration is slated for 12 noon in Delhi, the cabinet meeting in Bengaluru is at 10.30 am.

Party sources said that some of these ministers are likely to meet the party central leaders and try to lobby for their candidates. "Attending the event is just an excuse," said the sources. MLA Shivanagouda Naik and MLC Puttanna left for New Delhi on Friday. The ministers' visit assumes significance as the CM is waiting for the central leadership's nod to take up cabinet expansion or reshuffle.

Yediyurappa had visited Delhi last week and met BJP national president JP Nadda to seek approval for the ministry expansion. National general secretary BL Santosh too visited Bengaluru recently and held talks with Yediyurappa. Just after the CM's visit, a number of minister had made a beeline to the national capital to meet the party central leaders. Water Resources Minister Ramesh Jarkiholi had recently stated that those who helped the BJP form the government in the state will definitely be rewarded. At present, out of 34 berths, seven are vacant.

CM should expand cabinet, not reshuffle: Prasad

Mysuru: BJP MP V Srinivasa Prasad said Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa should aim for cabinet expansion, and not do any reshuffling. He suggested that the CM fill up vacancies in the cabinet instead. Speaking to media persons here, he said the CM's job is a difficult one and that he is under a lot of pressure. "The CM should make a decision intelligently. "Siddaramaiah's failure to make an intelligent decision cost him heavy in the elections," he added. He said that Yediyurappa should have consulted and held talks before making appointments to boards and corporations. Prasad, however, refused to comment on the proposed talks of a change in leadership. Commenting on the Congress' performance in the recent bypolls, Prasad said though Opposition parties have collapsed, the Congress did well. — K Shivakumar

@Belagavi

BELAGAVI, which played a key role in the Karnataka political landscape, has managed to grab the lion's share of cabinet berths, after Bengaluru. Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa, recognising the contribution of Belagavi MLAs in installing his government, is handing out plum positions to leaders of this region.

With the BJP winning 13 of 18 assembly seats in Belagavi district, the party has elevated many to prominent positions. Given the recent political developments, the party now considers Belagavi as a potential region for political gain. This was set in motion with several MLAs, mainly Gokak MLA Ramesh Jarkiholi, turning Operation Lotus into a success.

Jarkiholi, Nippani MLA Shashikala Jolle, Kagwad MLA Srimant Patil and defeated candidate from Athani Laxman Savadi have been given cabinet berths. Savadi is also Deputy CM, despite losing to Mahesh Kumathalli.

Another influential leader, Arabhavi MLA Balachandra Jarkiholi, has been given the post of Chairman of the Karnataka Milk Federation. For appointments to boards and corporations too, Yeddiyurappa has given priority to party loyalists. Noted leader Mukhtar Pathan has been named chairman of the State Minorities Commission, while Kudachi MLA P Raju was appointed head of Tanda Development Corporation, MLA Abhay Patil is chairman of the Legislature Estimate Committee, CM's close associate Shankargouda Patil is Delhi representative of the Government of Karnataka, and Ghoolappa Hosamani has been appointed chairman of Belagavi Urban Development Authority.

In a fresh development, the CM appointed Raibag MLA Duryodhan Aihole as president of Dr Ambedkar Development Corporation and former MLA Dr Vishwanath Patil to the Karnataka Cooperative Oil Seeds and Growers Federation.

There's more. MLC Mahantesh Kavatagimath is Chief Whip of the ruling group in the legislative council, Saundatti MLA Anand Mamani is deputy speaker of the legislative assembly, Athani MLA Mahesh Kumathalli is chairman of the Slum Development Board, noted activist Ansasaheb Desai is Bescom chairman and young party loyalist Deepa Kudachi is director of the Water Board.

BSY will continue as CM: Gopalaiah

Hassan: Brushing aside speculation over a change in chief minister, Civil Supplies Minister Gopalaiah maintained that BS Yediyurappa will complete his term, and that there is no doubt about it. Speaking to the media, Gopalaiah said this issue has not been discussed. "Yediyurappa has a capacity to solve the differences among ministers." Talking about cabinet expansion, Gopalaiah said the process will be completed following directions from the party high command. He said all leaders, whether old or new, are being given the same amount of importance. On many ministers such as Ramesh Jarkiholi heading to Delhi, Gopalaiah said it is only to discuss development works for respective departments. ENS

'Jarkiholi has not dented my image'

Mysuru: Social Welfare Minister B Sriramulu said Ramesh Jarkiholi's entry into the party has not dented his political prospects or his image. He said there are many ministers who are backing him, and that he also has the support of his community. Speaking to reporters here, he said, "I have not done politics for power alone. I have gained the love and affection of the people. This credibility and support will keep me going," he added. Sriramulu said that there is nothing like 'original' and 'migrant' BJP leaders. "All those who joined have contested on BJP tickets and won. However, we have requested the CM to accommodate MLAs who have won five-six times." — K Shivakumar

Belagavi: The Congress is keen on fielding its working president Satish Jarkiholi in the byelection to the Belagavi Lok Sabha seat, but the man himself is not keen on jumping into the fray. "I have so many works to carry out in the coming days. Hence, I am not keen on contesting the bypolls. Moreover, my actual interest is in state politics," he said. Jarkiholi said more meetings will be held before finalising a candidate. "The dates for the bypoll will be announced at any moment, " he added. ENS

Use of force can't settle farmers' issues: Gowda

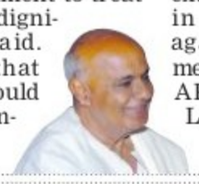
Taking to social media, the JDS national president said the government must treat farmers with dignity.

"I am extremely distressed by seeing the images of confrontation with farmers near Delhi. I request the Union Government to treat farmers with dignity," Gowda said. Suggesting that the Centre should "listen to farmers," the former PM said "use of police force cannot solve the problem." Gowda had earlier questioned the Centre for pushing through the bills in the Rajya Sabha and suggested that the government hold discussions with farmers to clear their apprehensions. He had also extended support to farmers in Karnataka protesting against the State Government's decision to amend the APMC Act and Karnataka Land Reforms Act.



DEVELOPMENT NOW

Joggers' parks, ponds in panchayats soon, more projects for MG-NREGA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

JOGGERS' parks in hamlets? That's the government's new development idea for the rural populace.

Strange as it may sound, the parks will have joggers' tracks and little ponds — infrastructure associated with typically urban settings.

"We will be identifying land in panchayat areas to construct ponds, plant trees, put up stone benches, and lay joggers' or walkers' tracks inside the park. This will not just give a scenic look to villages, but can be used by elders and others too," an official told The New Indian Express on condition of anonymity.

The Rural Development and Panchayat Raj (RDPR) department is to take up work under the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MG-NREGA) scheme, in more than 6,000 panchayats in the State. The beneficiaries are many: People working in cities who returned to their villages due to the Covid-19 pandemic, like construction workers, vendors, housekeeping staff, tailors and others. Those who own land have taken up farming.

The other beneficiaries are those working under MG-NREGA. The RDPR department is taking up construction of roads, ponds, kalyanis and anganwadi buildings, and will include parks too.

"The water bodies in the parks will also serve to recharge ground water. A number of borewells have been dug in villages, pushing the water table down," the official said.

RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa had visited New Delhi recently and met Rural Development Minister Narendra Singh Tomar, and urged him to upgrade employment from 100 to 150 days per family, for which the government is likely to receive additional funds of Rs 400 crore.

Karnataka is among the states paying Rs 275 as daily wages, which is higher compared to other states, and has become a boon for people who returned to their villages after losing their jobs in cities.

DOCS FIND 35 CASES OF 'REINFECTION' IN CITY

It is rare, but could occur due to inadequate immune response, waning immunity, or mutant strain of the virus

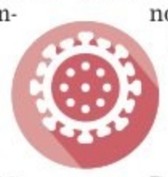
RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

SEVEN hospitals in Bengaluru have reported cases of "possible reinfection", which raise questions for health workers battling the pandemic.

Authorities at seven of 28 government and private hospitals in Bengaluru said that so far, they have seen 35 cases of possible reinfection. Seventeen hospitals said either they had not seen such cases or do not have data on it. Four hospitals were not reachable.

Jayanagar General Hospital came across 10 people who may have been reinfected, with the second infection being more severe, and patients becoming oxygen-dependent. They were transferred to Rajiv Gandhi Institute of Chest Diseases (RGICD).

"We got seven patients who contracted Covid-19 again. They developed new symptoms with radiological worsening, were more severe and were treated on the same lines. They responded well to treatment. However, such cases need genome sequencing to confirm it was reinfection and not a prolonged infection," said Dr Sachin D, consultant of interventional pulmonology at Manipal Hospitals.



He cited a recent British study that suggested reinfection within six months is very rare due to protective immunity. Reinfection is being reported frequently and could be either due to inadequate immune response (the first time), waning immunity, or mutant strain infection, Dr Sachin said.

RGICD detected six instances of possible reinfection. The patients were asymptomatic the first time. They had severe symptoms like breathlessness, cough, fever, lung involvement and muscle pain, Dr C Nagaraj, RGICD director, told TNIE.

"The samples were sent for genomic study and viral culture to the National Institute of Virology (Pune), to identify if the second case of positivity was the same strain," Dr Nagaraj said.

While Fortis Hospital saw one case of possible reinfection – the first in the city – Ramaiah Memorial Hospital came across three health workers who contracted Covid-19 twice. However, they were asymptomatic the second time. Pristine Hospital and Research Centre found three cases, while Victoria Hospital saw five patients who got readmitted 10-15 days after discharge.

Non-Covid viral infections go up, cause panic

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE dip in temperatures, made worse by rain due to Nivar, has led to an upswing in viral infections that are probably not Covid-19. However, with symptoms being common, doctors find themselves dealing with patients' fear of Covid-19 even as the pandemic rages.

People are rushing to doctors if they develop a cough, sore throat or even if they feel cold, fearing that they have contracted Covid-19.

"They are getting confused and are mixing up viral infections. They are forgetting that cases of viral infections rise during this season in Bengaluru, especially among children and those with asthma. They've forgotten (what life was like) before corona," said a pulmonologist and expert associated with the health department.

Either virtually, or in person, doctors find themselves trying to explain this scenario to patients amid an atmosphere of talk of a second wave and possible reinfections.

Doctors too, have to either detect or rule out a Covid infection or reinfection. "While we are prescribing anti-viral medication, we are not ruling out the possibility of re-infection, even though chances are minimal. So, to be assured and prescribe the right course of treatment, we are advising patients to get an antibody test done, and isolate until their condition improves," said Dr Vivek P, pulmonologist.

Health experts working with the government say the state is prepared to handle a second wave. "But at present, what we are seeing is that people come with Covid symptoms, but an RT-PCR test comes back negative and they have (another) viral infection. We are asking patients to monitor their health for the next five days. Doctors and health workers are also being advised to keep a close watch on patients. The virus is new and we don't know how it is changing. We have to deal with situations as they develop. So far, we knew the basic symptoms and test reports would confirm Covid, but now, things are worrisome. So, antibody tests on recovered Covid-19 patients is being prescribed," a health department official said.

Dr Manohar Nageshappa of Manipal Hospital said that a study of frontline health workers and Oxford University research showed that Covid reinfection in unlikely for about six months. Isolated cases of reinfection may have occurred, but for most people who contracted Covid, the chances of getting it twice are very low.

"So far, he (Shri Krishna) has confessed to have hacked into 30 websites, mainly those related to bitcoin exchanges, poker, and other gaming portals. Further inquiry, gathering and analysis of technical evidence are under way. In most of these hacking cases, the other accused Suneesh Hegde and Prashidh Shetty have also played an integral role," Patil said.

Shri Krishna alias Shriki

CCB sources said that Shri Krishna was allegedly addicted to drugs and spent most of the money he extorted by hacking on his addiction. "The questioning of the suspects arrested in the case has revealed that Hegde, Shetty, and Shri Krishna were addicted to drugs. To arrange money for the same, the trio identified websites and hacked them. While Shri Krishna was an expert at hacking, the other two aided him with logistical support," an official said.

"The accused booked rooms in resorts and five-star hotels while hacking websites. They procured narcotics from the dark web and used it for personal use as well as for peddling," the official added.

Container truck runs amok, kills five in Chikkaballapur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chikkaballapur

FIVE people, including three bystanders, were killed after they were knocked down by a container truck in a serial accident near Chathalapura Cross in Chikkaballapur district on Thursday morning. Two cars also suffered damage.

According to Chikkaballapur Superintendent of Police Mithun Kumar, preliminary investigation revealed that there was negligence on the part of the truck driver, identified as Surfi, hailing from Haryana.

A crane moves the container truck, which went out of control and caused an accident in Chikkaballapur on Thursday.

Driver loses control

The truck was headed from Bengaluru to Hyderabad when the driver lost control after going over a speed-breaker near Chathalapura Cross. It first banged into a car in which three people were travelling, and dragged the vehicle for about 30 metres.

Two of the occupants, identified as Yamanachar (44) an advocate, and his friend Venkatesh (45), died on the spot. Both were residents of Chathalapura Cross. The third occupant of the car sustained serious injuries and was shifted to hospital, the SP said.

A little distance further, the truck hit a stationary car. One person who was sitting in the car sustained injuries while two of his family members, identified as Kalanjiyam (47), a resident of OMBR Layout, Banaswadi, Bengaluru, and Nitesh Gowda (25) Lingapura village, Doddaballapur, who were at a tea stall close by, were killed.

A mason, Rangappa (55), a resident of Srinivasapura taluk in Kolar district, sustained severe injuries and later died in hospital. The tea stall was completely damaged and the truck had to be moved with the help of a crane.

Traffic police have arrested the truck driver.

HC dismisses plea of suspect in drug possession case

EXPRESS NEED SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Thursday dismissed the bail plea of a Thrissur native accused of possessing commercial quantity of drugs.

Dismissing the plea filed by Rijesh Ravindran (37), Justice B A Patil said that even though the senior counsel for the petitioner had submitted that the contraband was kept for the personal use of the accused, the drugs were of commercial quantity.

"There are no grounds to show the accused is not guilty of such offences," the judge said, and added that the petitioner could file a fresh plea after the chargesheet was filed by the NCB.

Counsel for the petitioner contended that the detention of the accused was illegal and that he was not a drug peddler, but addicted to the substance. The NCB's counsel countered, citing the HC's judgement rejecting the bail to actors Ragini Dwivedi, Sanjjana Galrani and others for drug offences.

New depression forming in Bay of Bengal

As per IMD, low-pressure area may bring heavy rainfall over TN; EPS inspects areas battered by Cyclone Nivar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

CYCLONE Nivar has just crossed the coast, drenching both Tamil Nadu and Puducherry in heavy rainfall. Now, a fresh low-pressure area is expected to form over the Bay of Bengal again on Sunday. The new system is likely to become more marked and move westwards of South Tamil Nadu, said the Indian Meteorological Department. "The low-pressure area may bring heavy rainfall over the State," said IMD director general Mrutunjay Mohapatra. It, however, remains to be seen if the low-pressure area will intensify into a cyclone.

Nivar, meanwhile, has weakened into a deep-depression and was centred over the South Rayalaseema region, 115km west-northwest of Chennai as on Thursday. Under the system's influence, Puducherry received a good 30cm rainfall, followed by Cuddalore (28cm) and Chennai, near the DGP office (28cm). Weather blogger Pradeep John said that Chennai has by now received its full quota of north-east monsoon rainfall – 840mm. Whatever is received hereon, in the month of December, will be in surplus. "We might go well into excess," he said.

Meanwhile, Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswami inspected the regions affected by Cyclone Nivar in Cuddalore district on Thursday.

Accompanied by minister MC Sampath, Chief Secretary K Shanmugam, district supervisory officer Gagandeep Singh Bedi and Collector Chandrasekhar Sakhamuri, the Chief Minister inspected damaged banana crop at Keezhkumaramangalam near Reddichavadi. Palaniswami also interacted with people housed at a relief camp at Devanampattinam government school and distributed assistance. The Chief Minister also inspected the Cuddalore harbour to asses the damages caused by the cyclone.

Addressing reporters, Palaniswami said, "As soon as we received information about the likelihood of the storm crossing Cuddalore district, we took steps to minimise damage."

IN the UT, standing crops in about 1,600 hectares of farmlands have been damaged by Nivar, said the government. That apart, 380 trees were lost and 83 houses were damaged in Tamil Nadu, while the losses in Puducherry are still being assessed.

Officials on both sides claimed the damages were minimal due to their disaster mitigation activities. Tamil Nadu reported three rain-related deaths while Puducherry had no loss of life. A minor landslide was reported on the ghat road leading to Yelagiri Hills, a popular hill station in the Tirupattur district, leading to a short disruption in traffic on Thursday. Huge boulders rolled down the road, triggering panic.

Due to excess inflows, the Shenbagathoppu Dam near Polur was opened for the first time on Thursday, since its construction in 2007. "The dam in which seven faulty shutters were recently replaced has been receiving 6,000 cusecs and the same amount of water is being discharged," an official from the Water Resources Department said. In Chennai, meanwhile, the release of water from Chembarambakkam Lake was reduced from 5,000 cusecs to a mere 500 cusecs.

As rains continued throughout Thursday, low-lying areas in Chennai and Puducherry saw waterlogging. Disaster response teams had to wade in or use boats to rescue people from there.

Tigers roar again in Malnad: Study

MEERA BHARDWAJ
@Bengaluru

Tiger recovery in the Malnad region has occurred amid significant changes | KALYAN VERMA

THE tiger population is recovering in the Malnad landscape despite economic development, the world's longest-running tiger research project (1986-2017) says. In the past five decades, tiger recovery in Malnad has occurred in an overall socio-economic context. If conservation strategies are crafted to align better with people's aspirations and the development process, this landscape can support more than 1,300 tigers.

Scientists from the Centre for Wildlife Studies (CWS) in Bengaluru have documented tiger recoveries over the past 30 years, across 38,000 sqkm Malnad landscape of Karnataka. They include the four clusters of Anshi-Dandeli, Bhadra-Kudremukh, Bandipur-Nagarahole and BRT-Cauvery. This study outlines the results of ecological research, as also conservation intervention over three decades by CWS.

As per their scientific assessment, tiger habitat occupancy remained unchanged across an area of 14,000 sqkm, out of 21,000 sqkm of potential habitat. Add to this, tiger numbers rose from about 70 to 391, primarily in a few wildlife reserves with long histories of law enforcement. If future tiger recovery efforts can be optimised, Malnad can potentially support up to 1,300 wild tigers, the study stated.

Dr K Ullas Karanth, leading tiger biologist and lead author of the study said, "The key to bringing back tigers and other threatened species lies in apportioning land wisely, separating nature preservation and human development, recognizing the need for effective law enforcement, encouraging non-governmental conservation efforts and accepting the reality that wildlife conservation must succeed under the mandate for economic and technological progress." Tiger recovery in the Malnad region has occurred amid significant human population growth, rising life expectancy and overall poverty reduction, induced by technological progress and demographic transition. These factors had both negative and positive impacts on conservation.

This study proposes cost-effective strategies to recover tigers and other threatened carnivores in a social context, and recommends that 'conservation' be seen as distinct from 'development'. Co-author N Samba Kumar adds, "There is a potential to recover tiger populations through informed management actions, and much scope for increasing carrying capacity for tigers in the forests of Malnad through protection of tigers and habitats."

"Our work at CWS for more than three decades demonstrates the role that science and conservation play in sustaining wildlife amid human aspirations," says co-author Krithi Karanth. The study, titled 'Tigers against the odds: Applying macro-ecology to species recovery in India' was authored by K Ullas Karanth, N Samba Kumar and Krithi Karanth, and appeared in the journal Biological Conservation.

MET dept warns of intense winter this time

Tamil Nadu Deputy Chief Minister O Panneerselvam visits flood-hit areas in Velachery, Chennai, on Thursday | ASHWIN PRASHATH

IMD-Bengaluru, Director in-charge, C S Patil, told TNIE that the weakening cyclonic storm Nivar over north coastal Tamil Nadu has moved north-west and is turning into a depression. Due to this, most parts of Karnataka will experience rainfall for the next two days. A yellow alert has been issued for most parts of south-interior Karnataka including Kolar, Chikkaballapur, Bengaluru Urban and Rural, Chamarajanagar, Mandya and surrounding areas, for the next two days. Also, a fresh low-pressure area is likely to form over the central parts of south Bay of Bengal and may move north westwards and become more marked.

According to the IMD, as of 5.30 pm on Thursday, Bengaluru had received 6.5 mm of rainfall, HAL airport received 13.8 mm and Kempegowda International Airport recorded 14.4 mm of rainfall.

Patil said the temperatures have already started to dip. As the cyclone weakens further, the maximum temperature will slightly increase, while the minimum temperatures will dip further. "This year, the winter will be more intense when compared to previous years. At present, because of the cloud cover, the minimum temperature is slightly higher," Patil said.

Take appropriate decision on WFH option for disabled staffers: HC to state

Bengaluru: The Karnataka High Court on Thursday directed the state government to reconsider its decision cancelling work from home (WFH) granted to employees with disabilities, particularly those visually-impaired, in view of the pandemic. Hearing a PIL, a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty passed the order. The petitioner - Karnataka Federation for the Blind - said the state government issued a office circular asking employees with disabilities to report for work, though the Centre's order is still in place to allow such employees and pregnant women to work from home. Taking note, the bench observed that the state government will have to reconsider its decision. The bench said that differently-abled, particularly visually-impaired, employees come in physical contact with others for assistance. Therefore, the state should take an appropriate decision within two weeks and place it before the court, the bench said, while adjourning the hearing to December 14, 2020. ENS

Literature is our true friend now, says Odisha CM Patnaik

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bhubaneswar

AS the unprecedented Covid-19 pandemic has forced the world to change the way it lived, making work and learning from home the new normal and shifting to virtual platforms to go on with business and activities, the Odisha Literary Festival (OLF) could not be left behind.

Odisha Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik, on Thursday, inaugurated OLF 2020, which by adapting to the new normal is being held on virtual platforms from November 26-29.

Welcoming all to the ninth edition of the OLF, organised by TNIE, the Chief Minister said that in these dark times, prose and poetry are our true friends, giving us comfort and clarity, calmness and courage to take it on. He also lauded the role of women in tackling one of the world's worst crises. Drawing comparison to the yesteryears in terms of women's empowerment, he referred to the great literary work of Fakir Mohan Senapati, Rebati, written in 1898. "In the book, the cholera epidemic was seen by the superstitious as a curse by the Goddess for the little girl's temerity to be educated, to dream and grow. In more than 12 decades since, in 2020, a pandemic has again slowed us down. But now, we know better, we know the science behind the Coronavirus," he said.

> The virus tried to ensure that we do not meet, but science has ensured that we are meeting anyway, though from a distance, and the art is here to ensure convergence of our minds
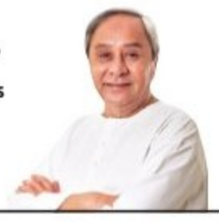
> Naveen Patnaik, Chief Minister of Odisha



Hitting a tone of optimism amid the adversity, Naveen said the power of words have the ability to make imagination take flight to enable our sorrows to vanish - like a great song writer once sang, 'There is a crack, a crack in everything, that's how the light gets in'.

He appreciated TNIE for its continued support to Odisha's rich literary tradition of producing great works of art. Editorial Director of TNIE, Prabhu Chawla thanked the CM and the people of Odisha for their support, "The pandemic had imprisoned us in our homes, we are now returning to Odisha virtually."

T'GANA CM'S FRESH GAMBIT TO ENTER NATIONAL POLITICS

Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao is at it again. He wants to float a fresh national platform of Opposition forces. A similar trial balloon he flew ahead of the Lok Sabha elections in 2019 was easily pricked by the BJP, which romped home with a brute majority. Once bitten but not shy, KCR wants to repeat the experiment by inviting all anti-BJP leaders, including Mamata Banerjee, M K Stalin, Akhilesh Yadav and H D Kumaraswamy, to Hyderabad for a conclave in the second week of December. There is one difference though. While in the first outing he tried to create a non-BJP, non-Congress alternative, he now wants it to be an anti-BJP grouping alone. It indicates his rather reluctant acknowledgement of the rise of the BJP at the expense of the Congress in Telangana. Though the timing of his announcement may appear strange as general elections are four years away, KCR is already facing the stiff challenge of steering his TRS to victory in the Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation (GHMC) polls. He also appears to have subtly unwrapped his national ambitions, indicating he wants to pass on the baton in the state to his son K T Rama Rao at some point in time and move on to a bigger power play.

Of course, there is enough space at the national level for a force that can challenge the dominance of the BJP, as the Congress lacks inspiring leadership and its resurrection appears distant. A consolidation of Opposition forces could surely help change the narrative, but the question is whether the bunching of regional parties alone would do the trick. For, many of the regional parties are powerful in their respective states, but taken together, they constitute a chain with weak links. That a chain is only as strong as its weakest link is well known. Now imagine the fate of a chain that has loads of weak links. History has shown how short-lived such experiments can be, particularly in the absence of an accepted leader of the front. KCR, nonetheless, is keen on changing the trend. What helps the BJP is the bloated egos of the regional satraps, who let Modi win even before the battle has begun.

STAIN ON THE KHAKI IN ODISHA

The Odisha Police is on a sticky wicket right now. Two alleged custodial deaths, reported in a span of 24 hours on Thursday last, have taken some shine off its good work during the last eight months of the coronavirus battle. The Puri incident had a person with criminal antecedents who died after being involved in a tussle with the cops trying to apprehend him. In Sundargarh, the victim was detained in connection with the abduction of a businessman. Both cases ended up providing enough ammunition to the Opposition even as the state Assembly met for the Winter Session. The Puri death has caused the government discomfort and the BJP and Congress have tried to capitalise on the issue on the floor of the House and outside. It has since reached the Orissa High Court, National Human Rights Commission as well as the Odisha Human Rights Commission.

Acting swiftly, the Naveen Patnaik government shifted the Puri SP while placing under suspension four cops, two of them officers. Probes into both the deaths are underway as per statutory requirements. Between 2017 and 2019, eight custodial deaths have been reported in the state. According to the NCRB, Odisha figures among the top 10 states in terms of custodial deaths, which the government would not be proud of. To make matters worse, this month alone, the police has received reprimands from the state human rights panel for excesses in at least four cases. Apart from awarding financial compensation, the rights body even went to the extent of banning field posting to a lady police officer and recommended training to deal with complex situations in one case.

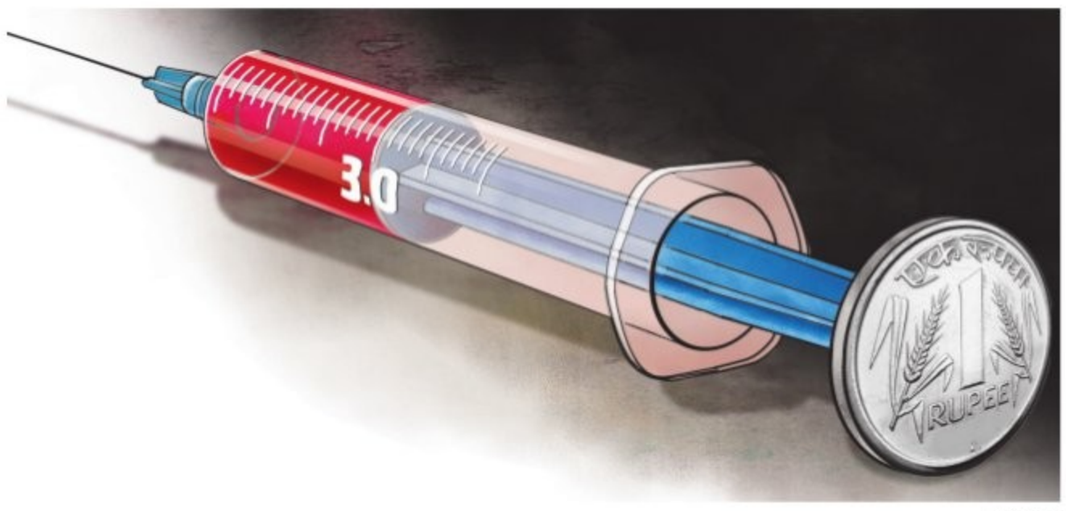
The police in Odisha has come a long way in the last two decades. From being primarily a rural police force, it has modernised itself and adopted technology to keep pace with the demands of the day. In fact, its successes against left-wing extremism have received plaudits nationally. However, at the core of policing remains people and basic human rights must be protected at all costs. It's time for the Odisha Police to reflect and take corrective measures as the recurrence of such violations would dent its credibility.

The stimulus, which covers 12 broad areas, has come at a crucial juncture when the pandemic-hit economy is experiencing a welcome pick-up in growth

ATMANIRBHAR 3.0, A COMPREHENSIVE STEP TO STIMULATE DEMAND

CHANDRAJIT BANERJEE

Director General, Confederation of Indian Industry (CII)



AMIT BANDRE

A comprehensive and far-reaching package unveiled by the Union finance minister under the Atmanirbhar Bharat 3.0 stimulus underscores the firm resolve of the government to get the economy back on the growth trajectory. By providing a fillip to both consumption and investment demand by announcing a much-needed expenditure of ₹2.65 lakh crore, the stimulus would ensure that the momentum of recovery is sustained not only during the festive season but even in the remaining part of the year and beyond. Apart from taking a multi-sectoral approach to help the economy navigate out of the crisis, the thrust of the package was also on ensuring that India becomes self-reliant.

The stimulus, which covers 12 broad areas, has come at a crucial juncture when the pandemic-hit economy is experiencing a welcome pick-up in growth that is showing further signs of acceleration in the festive season. Both the manufacturing and services sector have witnessed an upturn. Industrial production has come out of the contraction zone in September for the first time since the lockdown. Similarly, robust GST collections, rise in freight traffic and growth in fuel demand have signalled a rise in economic activity. The worst seems to be over and if the upturn is sustained, the Indian economy can break out of the contraction phase with the resumption of growth by the third quarter of the current fiscal.

In this direction, the government has rightly announced a new credit guarantee scheme to support firms in the 26 stressed sectors identified by the K V Kamath Committee subject to certain conditions. The move would alleviate Covid-induced difficulties in sectors such as power, construction, real estate, hospitality, etc. It would address some of the concerns of the sectors that are facing severe cash flow issues, with a few firms being on the verge of bankruptcy.

The extension of the Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) up to 31 March 2021 for MSMEs is also expected to be a major shot in the arm for the beleaguered sector as far as meeting their credit needs is concerned. As banks increase their credit, the economy could turn around and the actual default rate could come down.

The bouquet of measures on rejuvenating the employment-intensive housing, real estate and construction sectors are crucial for bringing growth and jobs back to the economy. The additional allocation of ₹18,000 crore under the PM Awas Yojana in urban areas is timely and would boost demand in sectors like steel and cement as housing projects take off. Further, the Income Tax Act would be amended for transactions below the circle rates, a move that would help clear unsold inventories of residential housing units up to ₹2 crore and mark a correction in depressed real estate prices. Among the other announcements, there is the equity support for the National Investment and Infrastructure Fund, which would help address the deficiencies in infrastructure funding.

The government has earmarked ₹1.46 lakh crore for the Production Linked Incentive scheme (PLI) to be paid over five years. The scheme, which has proved to be a success in the electronics space, has now been extended to 10 more sectors to promote Atmanirbhar Bharat and encourage domestic manufacturing. The initiative is to promote self-reliance and provide the best possible environment for achieving international competitiveness. It would also draw businesses away from China and reduce our import dependence. Similarly, the ₹3,000 crore support to the Export-Import (EXIM) Bank of India is meant to promote project exports through the lines of credit provided by the government under the Indian Development and Economic Assistance Scheme (IDEAS). Under this scheme, the EXIM Bank extends lines of credit on behalf of the Government of India as assistance to developing countries. This would cover projects under railways, power, transmission, road and transport, auto and auto components, sugar projects, etc. The allocation would help India to extend and disburse credit lines to foreign countries under the scheme.

> Among the most significant interventions is the enhanced outlay of an additional ` 10,000 crore for the PM Garib Kalyan Yojana, which can be used to provide employment under the MGNREGA scheme. This has been a vital social safety net and provided much-needed support in the past few months for rural people as well as returning migrants

Among the most significant interventions is the enhanced outlay of an additional ₹10,000 crore for the PM Garib Kalyan Yojana, which can be used to provide employment under the MGNREGA scheme. This has been a vital social safety net and provided much-needed support in the past few months for rural people as well as returning migrants. The increased support for rural jobs would boost rural employment, raise disposable income, spur consumption demand and support the economy's growth prospects.

Other measures include an additional allocation of ₹10,200 crore for industrial infrastructure, defence and capital equipment. This would benefit capital equipment makers and promote investment. Similarly, the subsidy given to fertilisers would boost farm output and elevate consumer demand while the R&D grant for the Covid-19 vaccine would encourage indigenous research.

Overall, the package is a major sentiment booster and a commendable initiative by the government in these exceptional times to lift demand, despite the limitations of fiscal space owing to the drop in revenues. If the announcements are effectively implemented, the Indian economy can pivot in a manner that would not only reboot growth but would also bring prosperity to the deprived sections of society.

SIMULTANEOUS PROCEEDINGS A RELIEF FOR HOMEBUYERS

KAVYA LALCHANDANI

Legal scholar based out of Delhi

Homebuyers have been subjected to excessive delays under the justice delivery system because construction projects have long gestation periods. From a mere contractual dispute to instances of fraud and delays in handing over the property, homebuyers face a lot of challenges. So remedies under one particular legislation may not be sufficient to cover all the offences and problems. Consequently, there is a need to give expansive remedies to them under different Acts.

In case of any dispute, they can now approach three possible forums under three different Acts: The Consumer Protection Act, 2019, as a consumer; Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016 (RERA Act) as an allottee; and Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016, as a financial creditor.

The new Consumer Protection Act, 2019, has been a relief in more ways than one and has wide-ranging provisions with respect to both defining the offence under the Act and dispute resolution. It is also not specific to resolution like the Insolvency Code. Therefore, it is important to understand that the remedies should be simultaneous and not mutually exclusive.

The fact that the RERA Act contains a 'bar of jurisdiction' clause has not stopped the courts from providing the homebuyers with simultaneous remedy under the Consumer Protection Act for issues that go beyond the RERA Act. This has been for various reasons.

The Punjab and Haryana HC has held in two judgments—Experion Developers Pvt. Ltd. v. State of Haryana and Ors., and Janta Land Promoters Private Limited v. Union of India and Ors—that remedies under RERA are in addition to and not in derogation of the other laws in force, taking recourse to Section 88 of the Real Estate Act. It has held that the appropriate forum may be approached under the Consumer Protection Act in case of remedies that may not be available under RERA.

This has been furthered by a recent Supreme Court judgment on the same issue in the case of M/S Imperial Structures Ltd v. Anil Patni. In the said case, the project had not been completed even after substantial booking amounts had been paid by the allottees. In 2017, the National Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission (NCDRC) was approached under the Consumer Protection Act 1986 (now amended to Consumer Protection Act, 2019); it ordered refund of the amount paid with 9% interest per annum and costs to the tune of ₹50,000. The NCDRC also dismissed the claim of the builder that it had no jurisdiction to adjudicate on that particular issue as the project was approved by RERA and therefore, the Regulatory Authority under the Real Estate Act was the appropriate forum.

> The new Consumer Protection Act, 2019, has been a relief in more ways than one. It is also not specific to resolution like the Insolvency Code.... Therefore, homebuyers can get simultaneous remedy under this Act for issues that go beyond the RERA Act

The new Consumer Protection Act, 2019, has been a relief in more ways than one. It is also not specific to resolution like the Insolvency Code.... Therefore, homebuyers can get simultaneous remedy under this Act for issues that go beyond the RERA Act

Consequently, an appeal was filed by the builder in the Supreme Court. The Division Bench at the apex court held that there was no bar in approaching the NCDRC under the provisions of RERA. This was because of two distinct reasons. First, the court relied on its decision in Malay Kumar Ganguli v. Dr Sukumar Mukherjee, where it has been held that the NCDRC is not to be treated as a civil court as defined under the Civil Procedure Code; and Section 79 of RERA, which deals with bar on jurisdiction of other courts, will thus not cover the NCDRC. Second, that Section 71 deals with the authority's power to adjudicate and the proviso to Section 71(1) states that the complainant under RERA may withdraw a complaint that is pending before any of the Consumer Disputes Redressal Commissions after taking permission from such forum or authority and then file a complaint under the Real Estate Act. This clearly indicates at a legislative intent of giving an option to the complainant to either proceed simultaneously or in any of the forums distinctly, rather than mandatory withdrawal of a complaint under the Consumer Protection Act to file a complaint under RERA.

These judgments are a much-needed respite to homebuyers as the remedies under the specialised Acts are very selective and may also limit the cause of action. The three reasons given above can offer an opportunity to the homebuyers to make complaints under the preferred Act or expand their rights by making simultaneous complaints in order to get exhaustive remedies. However, while these are protective legislations, the courts shall endeavour to prevent any overlaps if the homebuyers choose to pursue simultaneous remedies. For instance, Section 12 of RERA penalises the promoter for misleading advertisements in the context of layout, plan or model of the building. Such penal consequences for misleading advertisements are also available under the Consumer Protection Act under Sections 2(28) and 10(1) more generally, which relate to any aspect of the false and misleading advertisement. Therefore, the compensation awarded will have to prevent any overlaps in these areas; otherwise, it will lead to unjust enrichment of the complainant, which is not the purpose of these Acts.

Why stoke religious hate?

The citizens of Hyderabad are already facing the brunt of the pandemic, economic slowdown and the recent floods. As if this is not enough, our so-called leaders are adding one more problem of religious hate, instead of focusing on solving the problems that actually affect the people.

Increasing health budget

This is with reference to Welcome move to boost spending on healthcare (Nov 25). India's allocation of funds to healthcare as a percentage of GDP is substantially low when compared to many other countries. So the Centre's plan to increase the healthcare budget by 50% in the coming year is a welcome sign.

One nation, one election need of the hour: PM

Narendra Modi was addressing concluding session of presiding officers of legislatures

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday reiterated the need for discussions on 'one nation, one election' while addressing the concluding session of the presiding officers of legislatures.

He also suggested a single voters' list for Lok Sabha, assembly and panchayat polls, saying separate lists are a waste of resources

"One nation, one elections isn't just a topic for discussion, but a need for the country. There's a need for serious discourse on the issue. The presiding officers also need to brainstorm over the issue," said the Prime Minister, adding that common voter list can be used for the purpose. Digital innovations in the fields of legislatures should be taken up in real earnest for this, added the Prime Minister.

The Prime Minister since 2017 has regularly been speaking on the issue of "one nation, one election" as a way to cut down on the expenses borne out of the public exchequer and also to ensure political stability. A BJP affiliated think tank under the chairmanship of the senior party leader Vinay Sahashrabuddhe has also submitted a report on the issue after holding discussions with a cross section of the stakeholders.

The PM stressed that in the past 6-7 years a lot of efforts have been made for the better coordination among the legislature, judiciary and executive. The Prime Minister was addressing the concluding session of 80th All India Presiding Officers Conference at Kevadia Gujarat through video conferencing.

After the emergency, the system of checks and balances kept getting stronger as Legislature, Executive and Judiciary moved ahead learning from the episode. This was possible due to the confidence that the 130 crore Indians have in the three branches of the government

Narendra Modi, Prime Minister

The Prime Minister remembered the victims of the Mumbai terrorist attack which took place on this day in 2008. He paid tribute to the martyrs of the security forces and said that today India is fighting terrorism in a new way and paid his respect to the security forces.

Referring to the Emergency, the Prime Minister said that in 1970's attempt was made against the dignity of separation of power but answer for that came from the Constitution itself as decorum and separation of power is described in the Constitution itself.

'On rights, SC mandate to intervene'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court has not just the power but also the mandate to interfere in cases and controversies involving deprivation of Constitutional and legal rights, asserted Justice DY Chandrachud.

Justice Chandrachud while delivering a lecture on the occasion of Constitution Day at a virtual conference by Jindal Global Law School, said, "Endowing courts with the expectation that they are the sole repositories of social change is unrealistic. It will breed cynicism of unrealised hopes."

However, there are cases where the courts can play a vital role in fostering the growth of Constitutional and democratic values, he said. "In cases and controversies brought to the court evidencing a deprivation of Constitutional and legal rights, the Supreme Court of India has not just the power, but the mandate to interfere," Justice Chandrachud said. He also remarked that the present pandemic situation had raised several pertinent questions, including on the role of the courts in the realisation of liberal, democratic, and Constitutional values.

He added that public-spirited citizens need to bring forward petitions that are well focused and narrowly tailored, based on strong evidence, broad stakeholder consultation, and genuinely representing the voices of those on whose behalf it is brought forward. "The framers of the Constitution realised that in order to uproot caste-based inequality, state intervention in the nature of affirmative action is indispensable," Justice Chandrachud said while referring to the Hathras rape incident which had led Allahabad HC to register a suo motu case after concerns of soci0-economic inequalities were raised.

Professor (Dr) C Raj Kumar, founding V-C of Jindal Global University said, "There is a delicate and critical relationship between Constitutionalism, liberal democracy and enlightened citizenship."

The session also saw renowned legal scholar, Prof (Dr) Upendra Baxi render Presidential address.

Shringla in Nepal to mend ties strained over border issue

PUSHKAR BANAKAR @ New Delhi

FOREIGN Secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla on Thursday arrived in Kathmandu on a two-day visit, a move being seen as a significant outreach effort following a boundary dispute.

"Our relationship is very strong. Our efforts are aimed at how we can move our relationship forward," he said in Nepali.

The foreign secretary later in the day also called upon his Nepalese counterpart Bharat Raj Paudyal and Nepalese foreign minister Pradeep Kumar Gywalai. Shringla's visit is the third high-profile visit by Indian officials in the past few months following RAW chief Samant Goel and Army chief MM Naravane's trips to the Himalayan Nation.

Shringla said meet was very useful and productive. "A very large number of issues relating to bilateral cooperation were discussed. We agreed to take steps to advance cooperation in various areas. We also looked at some other initiatives that could be taken up," he said.

Shringla also handed over 2000 vials of the drug Remdesivir to Gyawali as a part of India's cooperation to tackle pandemic.

Oxford vaccine faces questions over quality after faulty dosing regimens

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

THE Covid-19 vaccine developed by Oxford University and manufactured by AstraZeneca has found itself facing a credibility test after the two entities acknowledged faulty human trials where participants were given two dosing regimens.

Interestingly, the efficacy of the vaccine in volunteers who got a lower dose was found to be 90%, while it was only 62% among those who got full dose.

The difference in doses given to the trial participants had left scientists perplexed but no explanation was offered for that.

Also, the trial participants consisted of very few elderly individuals, but this information was not disclosed.

It also now emerged that lower dose was given to some people due to an error in the quantity of the vaccine put into some vials, raising questions about the drug's quality.

Experts said the lack of transparency in releasing crucial information could lead to stricter scrutiny by regulators and mistrust among people.

Following the uproar, Astra's CEO Pascal Soriot said it would conduct an additional global trial with the half first dose to assess the efficacy of its vaccine.

On Monday, Swedish-British pharmaceutical major AstraZeneca had said in a press statement that their vaccine candidate was 70% effective on average in a late-stage study, but it did not disclose the small number of elderly volunteers or the manufacturing error.

Experts pointed out that the lack of transparency in releasing crucial information and data may lead to stricter scrutiny by regulators in many countries and mistrust among people.

"This episode has many elements which are problematic," said bioethicist Anant Bhan. "Apart from cherry-picking data to show that its vaccine is highly effective, the company also didn't reveal that the sample size of elderly participants was very small," he said, adding that it may be only serendipity that seems to have led to a dose which showed higher efficacy. "All this is very concerning and looks like there was pressure within the company to release efficacy data quickly after results by Pfizer-BioNTech and Moderna," Bhan said.

SII claimed that the AstraZeneca-Oxford vaccine is safe and effective and even the lowest efficacy results are at 60-70%.

Extradition of 26/11 conspirator to begin in Jan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE extradition process of Tahawwur Hussain Rana, the Pakistani-Canadian doctor and the co-conspirator of the 26/11 Mumbai terror attacks, will begin in January, the central government and the National Investigation Agency (NIA) has been informed by the US authorities, according to sources in the security establishment.

59-year-old Rana is serving a 14-year-prison sentence in a US prison in Los Angeles for plotting a terror attack on Danish newspaper Jyllands-Posten.

In June, Rana was re-arrested by US authorities on a request from India after he was released on compassionate grounds due to his health condition.

In 2011, the NIA had filed a chargesheet against nine people including Rana, his former school-mate and friend David Coleman Headley, Hafiz Saeed and Zaki-ur-Rehman Lakhvi of the Lashkar-e-Taiba, al-Qaeda operative Illyas Kashmiri, and several Pakistan Army officials for planning and executing the dastardly 26/11 attack in which 166 people, including several American citizens, were killed.

A Chicago court in the US held Rana not guilty in 2011 and it acquitted him in the Mumbai terror attacks case. The Indian government has been trying to bring Rana to India for over five years now. A security official said that India's extradition case has become stronger as Rana's sentencing term in US is coming to an end.

Rana and Headley were both arrested in the US in 2009 for plotting attacks on the offices of the Danish newspaper. Headley is a Pakistani-American, also serving prison in the US.

60% boats lack identification system on board

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE challenges to India's coastal security persist even after 12 years of the Mumbai terror attack, with 60 per cent of fishing boats still lacking identification system. "More than 1,50,000 small fishing boats of the total 2.9 lakh have no identification system," informed a source.

It was via a boat that 10 Pakistani terrorists travelled from Karachi, hijacking a fishing trawler along the way, and unleashed three-day mayhem in Mumbai in November 2008.

While DG Shipping had made it mandatory after 26/11 incident to put Automatic Identification System onboard ships having a length of 20 meters and above, its cost was found to be prohibitive for small fishermen to install it. A Navy project to equip sub-20 metre fishing boats and dhows with transponders to enable their tracking up to 250 nautical miles was expected to provide real-time maritime surveillance via satellite, but there has been little progress.

In order to plug security gaps, a chain of 46 coastal radars was set up and in the next phase, 38 more such radars will be installed soon. The feed from these radars is linked to the Navy's Information Management and Analysis Centre at Gurugram, Haryana, through satellite and helps in identification of 'friend' or 'foe'.

The Navy has so far equipped 500 boats with transponders in Gujarat, 500 in Tamil Nadu and 50 in Puducherry. Buoyed by the results, the Centre plans to go-ahead with its ₹336 crore plan to equip 2 lakh sub-20 metre boats with transponders.

Also, a proposal to setup a joint information centre specific to the maritime intelligence is in advance stages of approval.

Rahul Gandhi to discuss possible alliances for Bengal elections

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

The meeting will be attended by Bengal Congress incharge Jitin Prasada, State chief Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury and Congress legislature party leader Abdul Mannan also expected to join.

The meeting will discuss possible alliances in the state with like minded parties. While the Polit Bureau of the Communist Party of India-Marxist (CPI-M) has given go ahead for alliance with the Congress in the state.

The party is divided over alliance in Bengal with views split over going with Left parties or the Trinamool Congress (TMC). Though Chowdhury is against any alliance with the TMC.

While the BJP has made inroads in the state by winning 18 Lok Sabha seats in the state in 2019, the TMC has to save it's government while it will be a fight for survival for the grand old party in the state.

In 2016, the Congress contesting in alliance with the Left won 44 seats in 294-member assembly. But majority of its MLAs have joined the TMC over the past five years.

The state having a sizeable population of Muslims hold key at many seats.

Traditionally, Muslims have voted for the TMC and the Congress but Asaduddin Owaisi's AIMIM decision to contest Bengal polls may act as spoil sport.

IITs say no to 3rd attempt for JEE-A aspirants

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Joint Admission Board of the Indian Institutes of Technology has turned down a proposal to allow those candidates who had exhausted their two attempts for the Joint Entrance Examination (advanced) this year to appear for a third time.

JEE(advanced) is the entrance test for admissions into IITs and the National Institutes of Technology and students who pass board examinations with marks above 75% and are among the top 20 percentile scorers in JEE (main) are qualified to take the examination.

Their attempt is limited to only two attempts even though engineering aspirants are permitted three attempts for JEE(M). A number of students, who had exhausted their attempts this year, have been requesting the Union education ministry and IITs to give them another chance next year.

As per the students, an extra attempt should be allowed to them as their preparation had been hit due to the Covid-19 pandemic and the lockdown imposed in March. The IITs, however, have not agreed with the students and said in a JAB meeting recently that this would result in disadvantage to the new aspirants next year.

While Amarinder Singh deplores tyrannical use of brute force against peacefully protesting farmers, ML Khattar rebuffs asking him to avoid cheap politics

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

PUNJAB and Haryana Chief Ministers Amarinder Singh and Manohar Lal Khattar traded charges against each other in virtual world as farmers and police fought pitched battles on the ground.

"The attempts to stop them (farmers) are not good for democracy. Actions can lead to counter-reactions, especially from the thousands of youngsters who were among the agitating farmers," Amarinder said, urging his Haryana counterpart to allow the farmers to pass through the state for making their voice heard in Delhi peacefully.

"The Haryana government's actions were against the Constitutional spirit and against the farmers' freedom of speech, and in bad taste. Either we have a Constitution in India or we don't, and if we do have one then every person has the right and freedom to speech, thought and action," he said.

The tyrannical use of brute force against peacefully protesting farmers is totally undemocratic and unconstitutional, he said. "The hands that feed the nation deserve to be held, not pushed aside."

In his response, Khattar advised Amarinder to avoid 'cheap politics'. "I have been trying to reach out to you for the last three days but sadly you decided to stay unreachable — is this how serious you are for farmer's issues? You're only tweeting and running away from talks, Why?" he tweeted. "Time for your Lies, Deception and Propaganda is over — let the people see your real face. Please stop putting the lives of people in danger during the Corona pandemic. I urge you to not play with the lives of the people — at least avoid cheap politics during the time of pandemic."

Rejecting his Haryana counterpart's charge of inciting farmers, Amarinder asked Khattar why farmers from Haryana were also marching to Delhi with other farmers.

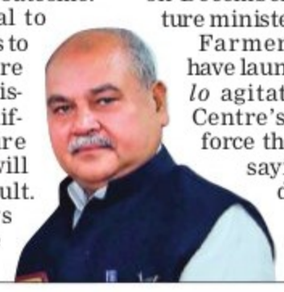
Shiromani Akali Dal president Sukhbir Singh Badal came down heavily on the BJP governments in Haryana as well as in the Centre for strong-arm tactics against farmers. "I strongly condemn the repression and persecution launched against the farmers in Haryana today," he said. "Water cannon cannot douse flames of democratic protest against injustice." Congress leader Bhupinder Singh Hooda also slammed the Khattar-led BJP government, saying water cannons, tear gas were used to muzzle voice of farmers.

Agriculture minister invites farmers for talks on Dec 3, assures positive outcome

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

UNION Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar on Thursday invited the agitating farmers for talks on December 3 assuring that the dialogue will have a positive outcome.

"I want to appeal to our farmer brothers to not agitate. We are ready to talk about issues and resolve differences. I am sure that our dialogue will have a positive result. The new farm laws were the need of the hour," Tomar said.



"In the coming time, it's going to bring revolutionary changes. We have spoken at the secretary level in Punjab to dispel wrong notions of our farmer brothers there. We will talk on December 3," the agriculture minister added.

Farmers from Punjab have launched a Delhi Chalo agitation against the Centre's decision to enforce the new farm laws, saying that the Acts do not guarantee Minimum Support Price and will prove to be bad for small and marginal peasants.

In October, farmer representatives from Punjab walked out of a meeting with the Union government on Wednesday alleging that it was not serious and was trying to foil their farm agitation.

Recently, the farmer unions in Punjab had decided to allow the resumption of passenger train services for 15 days. They had warned the BJP-led NDA government in Delhi of starting their protests once again if the talks fail to happen in the next 15 days.

Rebel LJP may lose lone RS seat

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @Patna

IF NDA sources are to be believed, the LJP will lose the only Rajya Sabha seat which has fallen vacant post Ram Vilas Paswan's death.

NDA's ally JD-U is learnt to have refused to support the LJP candidate, upset as the party has been with LJP's outbursts against the NDA ally in the recent assembly polls. Sources said efforts to persuade the JD-U have failed, and that the seat may go to the BJP.

Ram Vilas Paswan was elected to the Upper House by the NDA under the 'seat-sharing formula' finalized during the 2019 Lok Sabha polls by the three parties. The BJP and the JD-U had contested 17 seats each while the LJP was given six seats.

Acrimony between the LJP and JD-U resulted in LJP walking out of the NDA in Bihar and contesting against it.

NDA sources said the LJP's exit from the central NDA seems unavoidable if it remains adamant on the RS seat. "The BJP will have no option but to field its candidate in case the JD-U persists with its opposition to the LJP. The LJP will either have to swallow the humiliation or walk out of the NDA at the Centre. In either case, the LJP will be a loser," said a senior NDA leader.

Nomination for the RS seat began on Thursday and prominent NDA names being talked about are Sushil Kumar Modi and Shahanwaz Hussain. Senior party leaders have hinted at Sushil Modi being given a more important assignment. If the BJP leadership decides to bring Chirag around, then he could also be offered the same ministry which Ram Vilas Paswan held in exchange for the RS seat.

Unfazed, protesting farmers face off with cops in Kurukshethra

The agitators threw some barricades into the nearby Ghaggar river and made their way into Ambala, pushing trucks aside despite heavy deployment of security personnel, including the Rapid Action Force. After crossing Ambala, they broke police barricades near Tyora village in Kurukshetra, again making water cannons look like toy pistols.

At multiple points on the interstate border, Haryana had placed boulders, heavy barricades and even parked trucks bang in the middle of highways to prevent the farmers' march.

Similarly, at the Tukar border of Pehowa in Kurukshetra, Punjab farmers broke open the barricades, throwing some of them into the Markanda river, to enter Haryana though the water cannons were firing away. As the farmers moved forward, they were involved in a face-off with the police. A few of them on both sides were injured in the scuffle and were taken to a nearby hospital. The scene was similar in Kaithal in Haryana.

On the Dabwali and Khanuari border, famers dug in their heels and laid a siege. Farmers belonging to the Bharatiya Kisan Union (Ekta-Ugarhan faction) decided to stage a protest there for a week. As for the BKU (Rajewal group), its president Balbir Singh Rajewal said, "We have reached Gharaunda crossing Karnal. We will stay here for the night and proceed to Delhi tomorrow." Farmers from Haryana, too, are participating in the protest and have reached Panipat.

The Haryana Police detained Swaraj India chief Yogendra Yadav and some farmers accompanying him.

BJP poll manifesto promises 70K jobs in J&K, zero tolerance against encroachers

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE BJP on Thursday released its manifesto for the District Development Council polls promising 70,000 jobs, regularisation of daily wagers, regional equality and retrieving land from all encroachers including former J&K chief minister Farooq Abdullah.

In the four-page vision document, the BJP said after abrogation of Articles 370 and 35A, J&K is on path of peace and development and stone pelting is over. "There is zero tolerance towards violence and militant activities are dealt with an iron fist. After decades, laws of the land are applicable to J&K and the region is reaping its benefits."

The DDC polls begin from November 28. Results will be on December 22.

The BJP promised to provide 70,000 jobs to unemployed youth in both government and private sectors.

BJP spokesperson Sunil Sethi said land will be taken back from encroachers in an indirect reference to the Roshni Act. "All encroachments will be vacated whether it is of Farooq Abdullah, or somebody else. Encroachments cannot be justified."

Abdullah, however, has denied that he has encroached the state land.

Have a list of cases against Oppn leaders, Uddhav warns rivals

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray warned the Opposition parties of adopting a tit-for-tat policy if they run a vendetta campaign against his family.

Uddhav said the Opposition leaders should not forget that they are not as clean as they project themselves. "There are serious cases against them. If they try to mess up with my family, then I will show them my style of working. I know how to cook Khichdi. They have also got families," Uddhav said in an interview to Shiv Sena mouthpiece Saamana.

The full interview will be published on Friday.

Uddhav went on to claim that he has got a list of cases against the opposition leaders. "If someone comes in our way, we will show them our style of way. I like the challenges and fight against them. We will not spare anyone who obstructs the development of Maharashtra," he added.

The Centre and the Maharashtra government are at loggerheads over several issues, with the latest flashpoint being the ED raid on properties of Sena MLA Pratap Sarnaik.

'Address students' woes'

UNION Education Minister Ramesh Pokhariyal Nishank also directed that all the grievances of the students be redressed immediately.

Nishank said preparations are in full swing and officials are working to ensure proper implementation of National Education Policy, which seeks to achieve holistic development of students and transformation of the education system.

The National Testing Agency (NTA), which conducts the JEE (Main) and NEET-UG among others, will come out with the syllabus for competitive examinations, it was decided in the meeting.

The NTA had said last month that JEE (Main) would be conducted in nine regional languages, apart from Hindi and English, from 2021. However, the IITs are yet to decide whether the JEE (Advanced) will also be offered in regional language.

Stan Swamy will have to wait till Dec 4 to get straw and sipper

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @MUMBAI

The NIA on Thursday told a court in Mumbai that it did not confiscate human rights activist Stan Swamy's straw and sipper when he was arrested in the Bhima Koregaon case last month.

On November 6, the 83-year-old Jesuit priest filed an application seeking permission to use of a straw and sipper in Taloja jail as he cannot hold a glass due to Parkinson's.

The prosecution, which had sought 20 days to file a reply, claimed it had not seized either a straw or a sipper from him. "Actually, Stan Swamy's lawyers never applied for straw and sipper," Special Public Prosecutor Prakash Shetty. "They claimed that while arresting him we had recovered the straw and sipper from him. We simply said that we have recovered no such articles from him."

Special NIA Judge DE Kothalikar rejected Swamy's application after Shetty's response. A new petition seeking a straw, sipper and winter clothes was filed, accordingly. The court directed the medical officer of the jail to respond and the matter will next heard on December 4.

Swamy's plea had stated that he has almost lost his hearing ability in both his ears, fallen in jail multiple times, has been operated on for a hernia twice and still has pain in his lower abdomen. His lawyer told the court that he has been finding it difficult to even hold a cup due to Parkinson's.

Swamy was arrested by NIA in Ranchi on October 8. It was alleged that Swamy is a member of the banned CPI (Maoist), and was involved in a conspiracy to instigate caste violence in Bhima Koregaon village in 2018.

Dai-Didi clinics get good response

The recently launched special mobile medical facility Dai-Didi clinics are getting good response from womenfolk, especially in the slum areas. The clinics catering only to women are being operated by all-women staff including doctor, paramedical staff, technician and auxiliary nurse. Women of all ages were seen candidly sharing their health problems with doctors and female staff. The clinics also offer counselling on well-being, preventive care and issues related to reproductive health and family planning. The clinics are presently operating in Raipur, Bilaspur and Bhilai under the Mukhyamantri Urban Slum Health Scheme.

Community health workers seek fair pay

Mitanins — community health workers working within the state health system — are complaining that the incentive-based payment do not compensate them for the unending work they undertake during the pandemic. The Mitanin scheme is a Community Health volunteer programme, which was initiated by the Government of Chhattisgarh in 2002. The programme further progressed to lay foundation for the Accredited Social Health Activists (ASHA) programme by the National Rural Health Mission. These workers are urging the Chhattisgarh government to honour the Jan Ghoshna Patra of giving `5,000 to Mitanins and provided with adequate masks and sanitisers besides the social security benefits for family members. Over 69,000 Mitanins are working in Chhattisgarh.

Jogi's widow takes over as party chief

Dr Renu Jogi, widow of former Chhattisgarh chief minister Ajit Jogi, took over as the national president of Janta Congress Chhattisgarh-J. The regional party revamped its 21-member core committee and also announced other officer bearers at state and district levels. The JCC-J has four MLAs in a 90-member House and recently lost one of its strongholds, Marwahi, in the bypoll to the ruling Congress. For the first time in 20 years, no member from the Jogi family was in the poll fray. JCC-J was floated by Ajit Jogi in June 2016. His son Amit has blamed the Bhupesh Baghel-led Congress government for attempting to politically 'finish' his family.

Ethiopia launches major assault

Tanks close in on Mekele, whose residents were warned of no mercy

ADDIS ABABA

PRIME Minister Abiy Ahmed on Thursday ordered Ethiopia's army to launch a "final" offensive against Tigray's dissident leaders in their regional capital Mekele, saying the deadline for their surrender had expired.

The military offensive "has reached its final stage" after three weeks of fighting, Ahmed's office said. That means tanks and other weaponry can close in on Mekele, whose residents were warned of "no mercy" if they don't "save themselves" before the final offensive .

Abiy, the winner of last year's Nobel Peace Prize, late Sunday gave the Tigray People's Liberation Front (TPLF) 72 hours to lay down their arms. The ultimatum was rejected by the leaders of the region, whose forces have been fighting federal troops in the country's north for three weeks. Violence has claimed hundreds of lives and displaced more than 40,000.

"In this final phase, great care will be given to protect innocent civilians from harm. All efforts will be made to ensure that the city of Mekele, which was built through the hard work of our people, will not be severely damaged," Abiy promised.

He said "thousands" of TPLF militia and special forces had surrendered to federal forces before the deadline lapsed.

It was not immediately clear how close the army was to the city. A communications blackout in Tigray and restrictions on reporting have made verifying claims from both sides difficult.

Diplomats briefed on the fighting said that federal forces were at least 30 kilometres from Mekele to the north and the south.

The threatened assault and fears for Mekele's half a million inhabitants accelerated diplomatic efforts this week to mediate, with the UN Security Council holding its first meeting on the crisis on Tuesday.

A team of special envoys dispatched by the African Union (AU) to try to mediate between the warring parties arrived in Addis Ababa late Wednesday, said a spokesperson for the 55-member bloc. Agencies

US top court backs churches against NY

WASHINGTON

THE US Supreme Court has barred New York from imposing coronavirus restrictions on houses of worship in a ruling likely to be heralded by conservatives as a victory for religious freedoms.

Services should not be treated differently from permitted secular gatherings, said the unsigned ruling, one of the first since the appointment of Justice Amy Coney Barrett tipped the court's balance to the conservatives. Democrat Andrew Cuomo, governor of the New York state, had ordered that only up to 10 people could gather at sites of worship in high-risk areas designated "red zones". The court was responding to two applications—from the Roman Catholic Diocese of Brooklyn, as well as two synagogues -- claiming they were singled out under the restrictions designed to limit the contagion's spread in hard-hit New York City. AFP

Corporates double down on large scale cost-cutting in Q2

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA Inc continued to effect large scale reductions in costs and expenses over the second quarter of the current financial year (Q2 FY21) in an effort to mitigate the effects of a contraction in revenues.

An analysis of the financial results for the quarter for 179 companies shows an average 7 per cent year-on-year decline in revenues, but a comfortable 9 per cent increase in EBITDA margins — a key measure of profitability. In fact, 34 companies in the Nifty 50 index improved their EBITDA margin.

According to a report by Motilal Oswal Financial Securities examining the data, a defining feature of the better-than-expected performance during the quarter was an enhanced focus on cost mitigation measures. "Q2FY21 was an optimum combination of gross margin expansion and operating cost reduction," research analysts Gautam Duggad, Deven Mistry, and Jayant Parasramka wrote.

The analysis shows that driven by a reduction of 11 per cent year-on-year in operating costs, all key sectors (barring Capital Goods and Utilities) reported an operating margin expansion. "Other expenses declined 8 per cent y-o-y, pointing toward continued cost control initiatives by companies," it noted.

Slashing wages or effecting retrenchments weren't the go-to method for cost-cutting for most sectors, with overall staff costs rising a modest 4 per cent year-on-year. However, the report indicates that some derived significant benefit from such measures-staff costs decreased by 21 per cent for Media, 20 per cent Retail, 5 per cent Cement, and 5 per cent for Metals during the quarter.

Combined with this paring down of costs with a sequential demand recovery-consumption still remains lower than pre-Covid levels-most sectors recorded good numbers for the quarter. According to MOFSL, net profits grew 16.5 per cent y-o-y on average during the period, driven by "better-than-expected demand recovery as well as continued cost rationalization across sectors".

Some sectors did particularly well. Earnings before taxes grew sharply for Metals (199%), Cement (66%), PSU Banks (44%), Utilities (27%), Life Insurance (27%), Technology (12%), and O&G (12%). However, others did not, with Retail (-88%), Media (- 53%), Infrastructure (-45%), and Automobiles (-15%) recording double-digit declines.

TODAY'S STOCK PICK

MAHINDRA & MAHINDRA

Current Price ₹729

Target Price ₹800

The company's 2QFY21 earnings were driven by strong performance in the Tractor business and steady recovery in Autos. It announced exit from the Aerospace business, which had losses of INR3-4b in FY20. While MM's core business would recover faster, focus on tightening capital allocation could act as a re-rating catalyst. Hence, we see twin levers of EPS growth and re-rating.

PM asks states to draft an export strategy

Narendra Modi-led government also reviewed development projects worth `1.41 lakh crore spread across 10 states

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday asked states to develop an export-centric strategy in order to boost business and reviewed development projects worth ₹1.41 lakh crore spread across 10 states and union territories. According to sources in the PMO, Modi asked the states to prepare a list of products and select the areas which can be developed into export hubs.

"Even in the Budget, the focus was on developing export hubs but there is a greater emphasis on this now as the government is working towards Atma Nirbhar Bharat. So, all the states who participated in the virtual meeting have been asked to submit a list of the products and clusters which can be promoted under the PLI scheme by December 10," said an official, adding that the Prime Minister also asked the concerned officials to complete the pending work ahead of the deadline.

Reforms are beneficial only when one performs, and this is the way forward to transform the country, Modi added. As part of the PRAGATI meeting, multiple projects, grievances and programmes are reviewed. PRAGATI is an ICT-based multi-modal platform for Pro-Active Governance and Timely Implementation (PRAGATI) involving central and state governments.

Odisha, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Uttar Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir, Gujarat, Haryana, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, and Dadra and Nagar Haveli participated. The PM also expressed his unhappiness over the slow progress in the pre-construction activities in Maharashtra for the ambitious bullet train project as well as dismal progress of PM SVANidhi, a highly subsidised micro-financing scheme for street vendors, in West Bengal.

In the previous 32 such meetings, a total of 275 projects worth ₹12.5 lakh crore were reviewed, along with that 47 programmes/schemes and grievances across 17 sectors were taken up. The meeting involved projects of Ministry of Railways, the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways, the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade, and the Ministry of Power.

Global protest on skewed staff rights at Amazon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

ACTIVISTS around the world, including India, will come together on Black Friday (November 27) to protest against e-tailing behemoth Amazon's anti-union practices.

Protests will be held across the world, including in New Delhi and Hyderabad, under the #MakeAmazonPay banner. Some of the organisations that have lent their support to the protests include Progressive International, Hawkers Joint Action Committee, UNI Global Union, 350.org and Greenpeace.

The movement, endorsed by Noam Chomsky, Cornel West and other eminent activists, workers and supporters around the world, will embark on a day of action with protests to demand that Amazon pays its workers fairly and respects their right to join unions, pays its fair share of taxes, respects small businesses and commits to real environment sustainability. Action will take place across Amazon's global empire, including its supply chain in countries like Brazil, Mexico, US, UK, Spain, France, Belgium, Germany, Luxembourg, Italy, Poland, India, Bangladesh, the Philippines and Australia.

"In India, Amazon is undergoing an antitrust probe.... But its labour practices in India deserve equal scrutiny. Warehouses are the new-age sweatshops, relying on over-stressed and under-paid workers with few protections, according to a release from Progressive International's India campaign lead.

FMCG sector displays signs of revival, rural leads

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AFTER an unprecedented decline of 19 per cent in the Jan-Mar quarter, the fast-moving consumer goods (FMCG) industry displayed signs of recovery in the July-September period of 2020 with a 1.6 per cent growth (versus Q3'19), according to Nielsen. Notwithstanding the visibility of green shoots, however, the market research firm slashed its annual growth outlook for the FMCG industry to - 3 per cent from -1 per cent, stating that the persisting headwinds in the economy at large could stall the sector's recovery. This is Nielsen's third revised estimate for the FMCG sector

Earlier in January, the FMCG sector was estimated to record a growth of 9-10 per cent in 2020. But, then Nielsen downgraded its growth forecast in April to 5-6 per cent following the Covid-19 outbreak. Later in July, it said that the growth rate for the FMCG sector in India will at best be flat.

Value growth was pegged at 1.6 per cent in the third quarter ending September after the industry witnessed a de-growth of about 17 per cent during the April-June period.

"The revival was aided by businesses opening up with the pandemic reaching stable levels. Store closures came down to an average of three days a month in Q3' 20 from an average of 9 days a month in Q2'20. After being cooped at home for a long time, consumers also started looking at resuming normal consumption levels," Nielsen said in its latest report.

As far as geographies are concerned, rural areas continued to drive growth posting 10.6 per cent in Q3 of 2020, while the bigger cities of over one lakh population, including metros, played catch-up. "The rural markets have bounced back handsomely on the back of support provided by the government as well as good agriculture, reverse migration and a lower unemployment rate," said Nielsen analysts.

More than 50% of Indian outward investment in Asia is in services sector

JAYANTA ROY CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

A new study published by the Asian Development Bank shows that Indian multinationals prefer Singapore as their preferred investment destination within the Asia-Pacific region and that more than 50 per cent of Indian affiliates abroad are in the services sector.

According to the study titled ₹Factory Asia: The Determinants of Multinational Activity in the Context of Global Value Chains' by Natalia Ramondo in a book 'Future of Regional Cooperation in Asia and Pacific' published by ADB, the main foreign direct investment destination for Japan and the US is China. The finding implicitly shows the attraction of the large Chinese market for investors despite points of friction between the Middle Kingdom and its partner countries.

Building stronger regional strategies

ADB also stresses on the need to build a stronger regional cooperation strategies — including in health, trade, finance, and disaster risk — that can help governments in Asia-Pacific accelerate economic growth.

Less developed Asian countries such as Vietnam and Indonesia are also popular destinations in Asia for Japanese multinationals, while the second most popular destination in the region for US multinationals is Australia, an English-speaking country. "Indian multinationals in our data set choose Singapore, an economy specialized in the services sector, as their most popular destination," the paper said. It added that this distinct pattern is linked to findings which show that outward FDI for India lies in the business services.

More than 50 per cent of Indian affiliates abroad are in the services sector, according to data accessed by the study. Some 30 per cent plus are in manufacturing. In contrast Japanese multinationals are heavily concentrated in manufacturing, while Chinese affiliates abroad are more diversified with manufacturing coming a first, followed by services with a strong presence in mining. Interestingly, while inward FDI in China and Vietnam is concentrated in manufacturing, affiliates in Hong Kong, China, Singapore and especially India, are concentrated in business services, the study says.

Economic recovery stronger than expected, says RBI Guv

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RESERVE Bank of India governor Shaktikanta Das has raised concerns over demand sustainability with the close of the festive season and spurt in Covid-19 infections in India which pose downside risks to growth. Speaking at the 4th Foreign Exchange Dealer's Association Annual Day on Thursday, Das said that despite the pandemic-induced challenges, the regulator has worked in tandem with financial market participants to keep the system less volatile.

"After witnessing a sharp contraction in GDP of -23.9 per cent in the first quarter of the current financial year and a multi-speed normalisation of activity in the second quarter, the economy has exhibited stronger than expected pick up in momentum of recovery. However, we need to be watchful about the sustainability of demand after festivals and a possible reassessment of market expectations surrounding the vaccine," Das said. He also stressed that India's capital account is now open to large extent.

The second quarter GDP data is due to be released Friday by the National Statistical office.

What I don't like is that Maradona never apologised (after 1986 WC). Never at any stage did he say he had cheated. Instead, he used his 'Hand of God' line. That wasn't right.

LEGENDS NEVER DIE...

For Neopolitans, Argentine star Maradona is the one who made them dream with his uniqueness

Gracias, Diego!

At some level, Diego Maradona will continue to live on the hearts of the millions of fans who came to worship him. Here's a look at why the Argentine shared a special bond with the fans, the ones who paid ticket money as well as the ones who watched him from afar via cable TV...

A man of the people

The Argentine people saw Maradona not only as a sportsman but as an icon capable of giving the country an identity. That he was born in a poor Buenos Aires suburb but rose to the top of the world game is a story in itself. His people lived their dreams through him and, in 1986, he delivered on the promise.

Argentina mourns

Tens of thousands of Argentines on Thursday queued to say a final farewell to Maradona, in an outpouring of love for their national hero before funeral. Many mourners were in tears, and some wore No 10 Argentina jersey as they gathered at Casa Rosada presidential palace in Buenos Aires to see his coffin. A three-day mourning was declared.

An activist

That he didn't necessarily stick to politically correct language is well-known. But it also helped him fight for social justice causes. He identified himself as a leftist and maintained close relationship with Fidel Castro and said Che Guevara was his hero. His activism wasn't just limited to South America. He also expressed his support for Palestine.

IF there's a place outside Argentina that will likely match — or even exceed — the outpouring of mourning for Diego Maradona, it's in Naples.

While Maradona was revered around the world as perhaps the greatest soccer player ever, in Naples he was more than that. Maradona was treated as a deity for the way he led Napoli to its only two Serie A titles — in 1987 and 1990 — and raised the spirits of the southern Italian city, which remains far removed both geographically and socio-economically from the country's soccer capitals of Milan and Turin.

"Maradona wasn't just a player. He represented the spirit of Napoli for years," said former Napoli president Corrado Ferlaino, who owned the club when Maradona played there. Maradona's spokesman, Sebastián Sanchi, said he died Wednesday of a heart attack at the age of 60, two weeks after being released from a hospital in Buenos Aires following brain surgery.

Upon hearing the news, thousands of Neapolitans poured out into the city's streets to honor Maradona and light candles in his memory — even though gatherings are banned because the city lies in a coronavirus red zone. Many of them stood below huge murals of their hero that cover entire sides of downtown buildings. "It's so emotional that you can't say it with words, you can't explain it," said one local resident, Francesco Errico.

Naples Mayor Luigi De Magistris immediately proposed that the city's San Paolo Stadium be renamed for Maradona — and ordered the stadium's lights be turned on all night even though there was no game being played there.

"Maradona is Napoli. The passion for him here is known to everyone," De Magistris said. "Maradona united Neapolitans all over the world — as well as fans of other squads. "Today all Neapolitans embrace his family, with the awareness that this embrace will never end," the mayor added. "Because it was real love. A great love." He already made Italians cry when his Argentina team eliminated Italy in Naples in the 1990 World Cup semifinals. Many Napoli fans cheered for Maradona and Argentina — not their country.

Maradona also led Napoli to the 1989 UEFA Cup title during his seven-season stay. He also allegedly became a regular cocaine addict in the city — a dependence that eventually led to his downfall from soccer.

"Yes, he was also a controversial man," De Magistris said. "But for us Maradona is the one who made Naples and Neapolitans dream — with his genius, his uniqueness, he gave us happiness. Many have named their sons Diego, for he was able to redeem a city that was often the target of prejudices and discrimination."

OTHER SIDE

Drug addiction

Maradona was anointed as a boy with special abilities. Even before he pulled on the famous sky blue jersey, the media had prophesied that he would win them the World Cup. That sort of unreal expectation led Maradona down a path that included alcohol as well as cocaine addiction. It was a battle he was fighting till date.

Coaching Messi & Co

One of Maradona's last acts for Argentina in a sporting sense was a sorry car crash. He coached the team for a period of two years, including at the 2010 World Cup. But he failed to inspire a team, that was functional at best apart from the exception of Lionel Messi. The tactics weren't great. M&M's combining to give the country the holy grail of world football collapsed.

Lack of clarity on Rohit's injury: Kohli

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

INDIA captain Virat Kohli has come down severely on the manner in which Rohit Sharma's injury has been handled. India, who take on Australia in the first ODI in Sydney on Friday will be without their opener, who is currently undergoing rehabilitation at the National Cricket Academy in Bengaluru after playing the IPL with an injured hamstring.

Calling it a very confusing situation, Kohli said there has been a lack of clarity and they have been playing the waiting game. With the communication from the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI), its president Sourav Ganguly and Rohit himself not been clear so far.

Kohli answering to a media query virtually on Thursday, revealed that there has been a lack of clarity over the issue. He revealed that two days before the selection committee meeting to pick the squads for the Australia tour, he received a mail which said that Rohit had picked up an injury and he needed a two-week resting period.

However, Rohit trained on the same day the squad was announced and turned out for Mumbai Indians a week after being ruled out of the entire tour. Though he was added to the Test squad later he took the flight to Mumbai to undergo rehabilitation.

"The pros and cons of the injury were explained to him and he understood that. And he was unavailable for selection. After that, he played in the IPL so we all thought he would be on the plane to Australia, which he wasn't. And we had no information what so ever as to why he was not travelling with us," Kohli said. After arriving in Mumbai, Rohit reported to the NCA last week where tests revealed that he is still not fit enough and needs a minimum of two weeks rest.

Explaining further on the issue, Kohli added: "After that only mail we have received is he is at the NCA and he will be assessed on December 11. From the time the selection meeting happened to IPL and now there has been no information."

Early birth linked to higher risk of hosp visits

RESEARCH

BEIJING: Being born before 37 weeks' gestation is associated with a greater risk of hospital admission throughout childhood than being born at full term, says an observational study published in The BMJ on Thursday. Infections were the main cause of excess hospital admissions at all ages, but particularly during infancy, the researchers said, adding respiratory and gastrointestinal conditions also accounted for a large proportion of admissions during first two years.

The researchers said their findings indicate that gestational age at birth 'is a strong predictor of childhood illness, with those born extremely preterm being at the greatest risk of hospital admission throughout childhood.'

HIV infections rising in C. Asia

HEALTH

The EU's disease control agency and the WHO on Thursday called for better HIV testing to spot cases early following rising undiagnosed cases especially in Eastern Europe, Russia and Central Asia. Early detection of the virus that causes AIDS mitigates the impact on the patient and prevents further spread. A report by the ECDC and the World Health Organization's (WHO) regional office for Europe showed that in 2019, more than 136,000 cases of HIV were diagnosed across the WHO European region, with 80 percent of cases in its eastern parts.
